Art Biography

Lana Baqaeen is a self-taught artist whose interest in art emerged at a young age. She began her independent art journey exploring different art styles and mediums like pastels and chalk before she was introduced to oil, her favorite medium. Lana believes that the richness of oil colors, and their flexibility allows for a deeper connection and a more immersive painting experience.

Aspiring to develop her talent, Lana attended several art courses and workshops across cities known to be hubs for art and culture such as Florence and London. She also attended the Freestyle Painting classes with the great artist Ghassan Abu Laban in Amman. Her work combines elements of abstract and expressionism, mainly using a palette knife and a brush.
