"First there were tribes in the fields, and then rose grain as bright as the sun . Men and women made all kinds, shapes colors , and tastes of bread . Then a young kid carrying a cast iron pot spilled a sauce on a loaf. He took it and walked back to the bright field, sat under a fig tree, and took the first bite . Since then, it was never bread alone, nor the tops of the single tribe. He would travel to the edges of the earth in search of sauces and breads , but he always went back to eat under the blue fig tree.

when asked about what he was eating , he always answered while folding tiny bits... FIGZZAZ

So FIGZZAZ it will be at Blue Fig."

KHALID NAHHAS

SPIRIT

The BLUE FIG cafe ... improvised ... now is ... about people in moments ... fusion of music ... cultural fusion ... intense and light ... simple ... sophisticatedly simple ... slower than your heartbeat ... faster than your heartbeat ... the end result is a spirit ... a soul of an address ... shadows ... black and white shadows ... colorful shadows ... silhouettes of objects almost human ... definitely objects with skin ... flesh ... in whole no other like it yet very familiar ... timeless ... alternative ... converging delights ... delights you see ... delights you taste then hear ... delights you can almost taste ... virtuous textures ... true textures ... genuine textures ... walls that sink ... walls that move ... silent walls ... some forbidden sway in between ... hidden ... appear ... back into secrets ... daydreams ... dreams all the time ... lightness of being ... clarity in thoughts ... vivid is all ... ruptures of a voice ... an edge ... eyes above stars ... eyes ... eyes that kill ... eyes that murder ... eyes that keep on killing you by a smile ... a tear that drops from a mouth ... a word spoken by an eyelid ... cruelty that is forgiven ... rituals of the kitchen ... a dough cushioning a garlic clove ... a coffee bean dropped ... a wine cork kept ... a slice passed ... a place to dwell ... memories you will cherish ... moods you can grab ... souls of all souls ... BLUE FIG

KHALID NAHHAS